

Component-ablation attribution: freezing the classical decoder collapses reconstruction; freezing/removing quantum components does not

